
How to add additional text

Posted by p0oo9ip0o - 2008/12/30 06:59

I want to have a plugin that will add a customized text on the article, for example I add {additionalinfo} at the bottom of the article, there will be a sentence at the bottom

" is a part of the "

the and the are text link is it possible?

To add any additional text, you would just append it to $row->text in Joomla1.0 or to $article->text in Joomla1.5.

Eg:

```
$article->text .= ' your custom text ';

Is this what you want?

may that's it but how do i put the customized text by just adding {additionaltext} on the article?

Try:

$custom_text = ' your custom text '; // your custom text
$article->text = str_replace('{additionaltext}', $custom_text, $article->text);
```

This will replace any instances of {additionaltext} with your $custom_text;

where should i put that code?

```
/public_html/?????
```

and also how do I add the title of the current article and category to my custom text?
for example

```
$custom_text = ' this title of current article is belongs to title of category';
```

Place the code in the plugin parameters, under the "onprepare" content event field.

The title is `$article->title` and the category would be `$article->cat` I believe.
You have to add those to your `$custom_text` variable.

eg:

```
$custom_text = 'this '.$article->title.' belongs to '.$article->cat;
```

Try doing a `var_dump()` of the `$article` Object to see the properties.

eg:

var_dump($article);
```

That should show you which is the correct category property.

I don't now how to use `var_dump()`, I've try `var_dump($article)`; and there are message showing this object(stdClass)#261 (46) { => string(4) "4625" => string(51)

=> string(49) "test article" => string(0) "" => string(647)

Please look for category or cat in the output, or post the whole output of var_dump().

I think this is the whole result btw the title of the article is "Hajime No Ippo: New Challenger Episode 1: Episode 1" and the category is Hajime No Ippo: New Challenger object(stdClass)#265 (46) { => string(4) "4625" => string(51) "Hajime No Ippo: New Challenger Episode 1: Episode 1" => string(49) "hajime-no-ippo-new-challenger-episode-1-episode-1" => string(0) "" => string(647) "

```

```
{additionaltext}
```

```

Only the category ID is given. So to get the category, you'd need a mysql query:

```
$query = "SELECT title FROM #__categories WHERE id = ".intval($article->catid). " LIMIT 1";
$database->setQuery($query);
$category = $database->loadResult();
```

The variable $category should now have the category title so the text looks like.

```
$custom_text = 'this '.$article->title.' belongs to '.$category;
```

Where should i post this code?

$query = "SELECT title FROM #__categories WHERE id = ".intval($article->catid)." LIMIT 1";
$database->setQuery($query);
$category = $database->loadResult();
```

This line:

custom_text = 'this '.$article->title.' belongs to '.$category;
```

Should be:

```
$custom_text = 'this '.$article->title.' belongs to '.$category;
```

Variables in PHP must begin with "$".

You need to retrieve the Database Class Instance to the scope of your code. The event plugins execute in a local scope. (That is, global objects are not available).

```
$database =& JFactory::getDBO();

Place that before any code where you use $database.
